

Positive health, positive vibes

What a privilege to work with people from 7 different countries.

We had another fantastic meeting and collaboration with a group of 28 people (students and teachers). Our topic in this meeting was positive health in elderly and home care.

It was the 4th meeting, out of 6. This time, too, we did a lot of work!

The students collaborated on learning assignments and designed a student assignment book. Teachers have been busy designing lessons. It was incredibly instructive to hear from each other how elderly care and home care is organized in different countries.

We visited the elderly care centre 'De Merwelanden' with half the group. Here Thess gave us a presentation and tour in the field of technology in elderly care.

In addition, two colleagues of Da Vinci College gave simulation lessons to the other half of the group.

It was a very productive and instructive meeting. To be continued in Latvia!

I had the opportunity to participate in this great project in which students and teachers work together to develop a teaching/training module for social and healthcare students, by using the concept of positive health.

It wasn't just the assignment that I loved. It was great meeting new people and hearing about healthcare in different countries was very valuable. There are still big differences between European countries and how healthcare is regulated in these countries.

The way in which seven countries work together with one main goal in mind is inspiring. For me, this week was an amazing experience. The collaboration with our foreign countries was terrific. People were nice, and the assignment was accomplished.

I am very proud that I was a part of this project!

“My experience of the amazing cooperation in project Health4EU”

The project was well planned in advance by the organisers and it was easy to get down to work right from the beginning. Right away when meeting the partnering countries representatives first time I got the feeling they were all happy and excited to participate in the project and had prepared for it with care and thought.

It was rewarding to share ideas and brainstorm on how to make all our visions collaborate during the project, and finally see it come together for presentation.

It was particularly interesting to hear and see examples of the special features of health care in different countries as well as about the similarities.

The host country took excellent care of us and overall the project was very rewarding and a great experience.

I went with this Erasmus project to The Netherlands. It was a very nice experience, one I will never forget.

You get to know so many new people, you get to know how nursing studies are in other countries. The theme we worked on was elderly care and home care, two very interesting themes.

We also visited an elderly home, with very handy gadgets that we can certainly also use in Belgium. If you can, grab an opportunity like this, do it! It is an unforgettable experience, and you push your own boundaries.
